

Looking for the coolest job in town? Nate Johnson Studios is in search of creative and fearless candidates for the position of Ice Sculptor Apprentice. The ideal applicant will be wildly interested in this medium and possess a willingness to learn alongside a master sculptor with more than 25 years of experience whose work is regularly featured on national television and exhibited in some of the most exclusive venues in the Midwest. Candidates will enjoy a flexible and nontraditional work schedule in an edgy studio near downtown Fort Wayne where a variety of music styles is unapologetically played loud. Never wielded a chainsaw before? No problem. You'll be trained step by step in the art of ice sculpting as you create work that's as beautiful as it is fleeting. This is a part time position with full time potential. You must be able to team-lift 150lbs. Ice sculptures are heavy and fragile, so attention to detail and respect for the art goes a long way. Starting pay is $15 per hour with bonus opportunities and wage increases commensurate with the caliber of work.
